WELCOME!

Welcome to the University of Maryland. We're so happy to have you as a new Maryland coed. We feel the U. of M. is a wonderful school and there is no doubt that your future here will hold many exciting and profitable experiences.

When you became a student at the University, you automatically became a member of AWS—Associated Women Students. AWS is your organization, but only if you are an active member of it. Will you contribute to the maintenance of the important position AWS has on our campus? Your participation in the AWS program will help us reach our aim to help you grow academically, socially, and culturally.

Best wishes for a successful year!

Joan Adams
AWS President

A W S

The Associated Women Students is your student government. Every woman on the Maryland campus is a member of AWS. As the governing body for women students, AWS sets up and enforces standards of conduct and residence rules, sponsors cultural and social activities, and coordinates the women's activities on campus.

A great deal of the AWS work is carried out through committees, and this is where you can take an active part in your government. There are opportunities for women students to ply their various talents on AWS committees such as Cultural, Social, Dormitory Big Sister, Publicity and Publications, and Constitution committees.

Any woman student may become an active member of AWS by visiting the AWS office, Room 113, in the Student Union Building on any week-day afternoon for further information or application blanks for AWS positions, or by contacting Joan Adams, AWS president, at Somerset Hall.

The Executive Council

The Executive Council is the administrative body of AWS. It discusses and acts upon all problems affecting the welfare of women students. All of the official legislation of AWS is transacted in the Executive Council. The three subdivisions of the council are the Residence Council, the campus Judicial Board and the Academic Board.

Membership on the Executive Council consists of the . . .

AWS Officers

Chairman of the Judicial Board

Chairman of the Academic Board

Dormitory Presidents

Representatives of each class

Representatives of the Daydodgers Student Association, the International Club, and the Independent Students' Association.

The Judicial Board

The Campus Judicial Board has jurisdiction over all violations of women's regulations. The Board has the power to review and set aside decisions of the residence judicial boards and to act as an appeals board for students not satisfied with a dormitory or sorority board decision. However, extreme violations of University rules and those which need immediate consideration are referred to the Dean of Women.

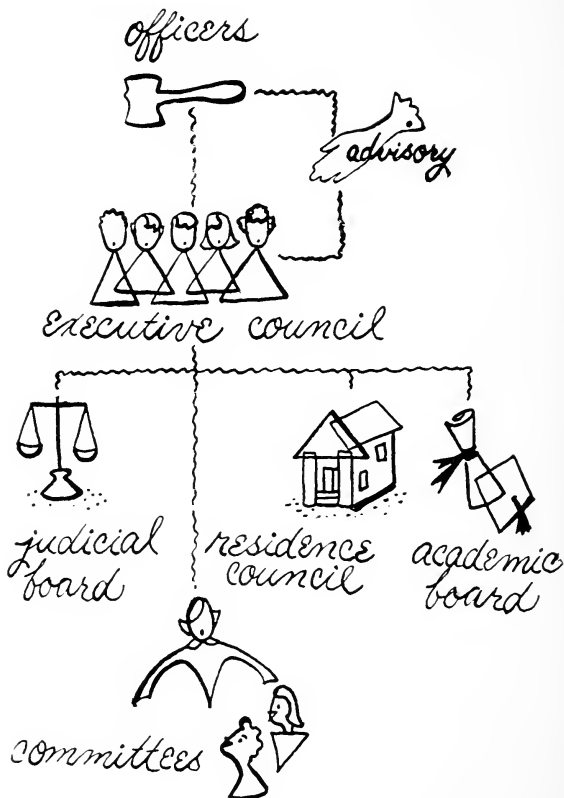

The chairman of the Board is elected at a joint meeting of the incoming and outgoing members. The Board membership is composed of seven dormitory judicial board chairmen and two rotating sorority judicial chairmen.

The Academic Board

The Academic Board's purposes are to encourage good scholarship and to improve faculty-student relations. The Board is composed of the dormitory academic chairmen and the Panhellenic scholarship chairman.

The purposes of the board are carried out through sponsorship of the Dormitory Scholarship

AWS Organization

Cup, which is given to the dormitory group with the highest scholastic average, by aiding freshmen to adapt to college studies, by presentation of Student-Faculty Coffee Hours, through handling of tutoring arrangements in women's residences, and by publicizing job placement forums.

The Residence Council

The Residence Council discusses and acts upon all proposed changes in house rules affecting sorority residences. It is the liason between the AWS Executive Council and sorority residences. Changes in house rules may suggested by individuals or groups of students, house directors, or the Dean of Women's staff.

The Executive Council and the House Presidents of all sorority residences are members of the Residence Council.

Dormitory Government

Each dorm has a council, consisting of a president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and committee chairmen plus four class representatives. The house director is the council advisor.

These councils are the administrative bodies for on-campus residences for women. Each council supervises the conduct and scholarship within its dormitory and promotes extra-curricular activities among its students.

The officers and class representatives are elected by a majority vote of the residents. The freshman representative is elected in the fall. The chairmen and members of the committees are appointed by a committee composed of the new officers, the incoming and retiring presidents and the house director from applications entered by interested students.

Dormitory Council

The dorm council consists of all the women's dormitory presidents who meet monthly to discuss problems of dormitory government. Ideas are exchanged concerning the programs carried out in the dorm by the dormitory executive council. Any dorm resident may offer suggestions to the dorm council, which may in turn make suggestions to the AWS Executive Council. The AWS dorm council works with the Men's League dorm council in promoting a social program between the dorms.

Sorority Residence Councils

Each sorority has a residence council composed of the president, house president, and house director.

The Advisory Board

The AWS Advisory Board is composed of members of the Dean of Women's staff.

“Traditional Norm”

“I suppose there is in every art, as there is in every society, not exactly a set of fixed rules but a traditional norm, a way of living and behaving, which the Greeks might call Themis—the thing that is expected, that is always done, and which implies of course a number of things that are not Themis, that are simply ‘not done,’ at least by people who behave themselves.”

(GILBERT MURRAY, “ARE OUR PEARLS REAL?” THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY, JUNE 1955.)

We at the University of Maryland hope that our students will acquire this “traditional norm” which for us is a kindly, gracious way of living. No set of rules can cover a philosophy of life, although these rules are designed to point the way to considerate, sane, and pleasant relationships with other people. However, anyone who cares about being a fine person, and who believes that poise, generosity, gentleness, integrity, and honesty are among the most important things in life, will find it easy to understand and keep our rules. Mature self-discipline is a wonderful aid to happiness, paradoxical as that may seem.

We sincerely trust that your experience at Maryland will be a challenge to your intellect and an opportunity to grow in wisdom and charm. The best of luck to you all!

From 10:30 p.m. all calls to the University go through the campus police. ## THE LID IS OPEN

Welcome to the Maryland campus. Now that you know the important role that AWS will play during your stay at the University and the rules you are expected to follow, it's time to open the lid of our treasure chest and see what's in store.

Hit the Books

First and foremost, the University of Maryland is a community for learning. During your years here, much of your time will be devoted to developing yourself academically, as well as socially. Set up a study schedule and stick to it. Then there will be hours for extra curricular activities and social life.

Get That Friendly Feeling

The University of Maryland is a huge place with students from various sections of the country and from different backgrounds. Be friendly, and be interested in everyone around you, for you will treasure these friendships during your college life and afterwards.

Group Living Takes Work

Dormitory life is fun, but large group living calls for extra consideration of others. One of your first and most important friends is your roommate. Respect her ideas and she'll return your cooperation with true friendship.

"Big Sis" Can Help

Your big sister in the dorm can be a helping hand. Don't hesitate to confide in your new "sis" and ask her advice. She can be of invaluable assistance, particularly during orientation and the first hectic days of classes.

Take Your Pick

The selection of activities is so broad and varied that every interest and talent can be satisfied. You as new students should partake of these treasures sparingly during your first semester as you adjust to your studies and college group living. The wise and capable coed does a few things well and doesn't spread herself too thin.

Mind your P's and Q's

We hope that most of you know what to do and when to do it, so just a few words of etiquette advice. Avoid chewing gum in public—many of us are guilty of resembling a cow chewing her cud. Obey the smoking regulations stated in the rules section and don't smoke while walking on the campus. Avoid embarrassment for yourself and others by refraining from public displays of your affection, on the campus and elsewhere.

Love is grand, but—

What to Wear

"What does one wear to football games, to classes, and to parties?" echo the new arrivals. For this problem is an important one, and a bad selection can be socially embarrassing for the wearer and expensive for her Dad. So to help Pop out and alleviate the closet space, which is limited, bring a moderate but adjustable wardrobe. Put an emphasis on casual wear. The customary and appropriate garb for classes is cottons when it's warm and blouses, sweaters and skirts in the fall and winter.

The same applies to most of the home sporting events, but on especially big weekends or for away games, we spruce it up a bit. Even on the weekends, unless the occasion is a dance or a party, suits and wool dresses are our favorites.

Do bring a few dressy dresses and gowns for the special dates, and for teas and church. Gloves and hats are musts for the latter two.

Put in a Nutshell

To sum it all up, be friendly, study hard, be considerate and discreet, participate in activities that interest you most. Above all, don't be afraid to ask questions. (It makes us feel like old hands at the game.)

Remember, your fellow students, your house-mother, the Deans and the faculty all want to be your friends.

Make the most of your college life—you'll never regret it. Someday you'll look back on these years as a treasure chest of wonderful experiences.
